

The Forbidden Astrology Teachings

Another Reason to evidence why the New Testament is a fraud

In our modern-day world, many still believe Jesus Christ (YahuSha, the Messiah) is the real sinless rightness one, a man who came from heaven where the Creator Father is. And he went back to heaven, sitting on the right side of the Father's throne. I, Bro. Pouliot does not agree or believe this at all. After I have announced my change of journey beliefs. That I no longer believe in the New Testament Bible. Because of many contradictories in those books. Many conflicts and errors are found between the Old and New Testament bible. In other words, it all ends up viewing that the New Testament tried to alter the Old Testament teachings. As how the New Testament technique manipulation people's minds about the new way of salvation that the heavenly Father will deliver.

I have already shared many different reasons why I no longer believe in the New Testament teachings -

The TANAKH contain some passages that caution against practices associated with divination, fortune-telling, and seeking guidance from celestial signs. Here are the four example that forbid the astrologic practice in the book of Deuteronomy 18:14, Leviticus 19:26; 20:6, and Isaiah 47:13-14:

“You shall be blameless before שׂוֹדֵד, your Creator ONE, for these nations, which you are about to dispossess, listen to fortune-tellers and to diviners.”

“Do not practice divination or seek omens.”

“I will set my face against anyone who turns to mediums and spiritists to prostitute themselves by following them, and I will cut them off from their people.”

“All the counsel you have received has only worn you out! Let your astrologers come forward, those stargazers who make predictions month by month, let them save you from what is coming upon you. Surely they are like stubble; the fire will burn them up. They cannot even save themselves from the power of the flame.”

These passage verses emphasize the importance of trusting in 𐤒𐤕𐤓 alone and avoiding practices that involve seeking guidance or knowledge from sources outside of HIS way, HIS teachings.

Historical Context:

The TANAKH reflects the historical experiences and societal norms of the ancient Yisraelites. Its narratives are deeply embedded within the cultural and mythological contexts of its time. While the TANAKH does not delve extensively into astrological matters, it encourages a faithful relationship with 𐤒𐤕𐤓 and adherence to His laws.

Since the Tanakh NEVER explicitly mentions such astrologist as a concept, its emphasis on monotheism, faith in 𐤒𐤕𐤓's existence, trust in divine guidance, and wholehearted devotion aligns with principles that contradict astrology beliefs.

Somehow the First Apocalypse of James text claims to be Jesus' teachings to his brother James and is considered to be an important copy of forbidden teachings. The text is written in Greek, an early language used in Christian writings, and is rare to find in Greek. Gnostic texts like The First Apocalypse of James were likely banned because of their different understanding of Jesus' importance.

Some Gnostics identify Jesus as the embodiment of the supreme being, while others deny that Jesus came in the flesh and instead say that Jesus was a human who attained enlightenment through gnosis. The Nag Hammadi scriptures claim that Jesus was a Gnostic, which explains why Jesus didn't talk about the judgmental Old Testament 𐤒𐤕𐤓.

Like the very one in the New Testament Gospel book of Matthew, a story about the wise men, or Magi, following the Star of Bethlehem from the East to Bethlehem to find this infant Jesus. These so-called wise men figure out about these stars by their prophetic timetable by the astrology figure. They have been watching the heavens for years, waiting for alignments that would foretell the birth of this king. When they identified a powerful set of astrological portents, they decided the time was right to find the prophesied leader. Why in the world was this astrological involved in this teaching which 𐤒𐤕𐤓 forbid?

In the book of Numbers, there is a story about a ruler named Balak in Moab who saw how the Yisraelites had defeated the Amorites and felt threatened by their presence. In his fear, Balak sought out a prophet named Balaam to curse the people of Yisrael on Moab's behalf. However, אלהים instructed Balaam not to go with the messengers from Balak and not to curse the Yisraelites because they were blessed.

Despite אלהים's initial displeasure with Balaam for considering Balak's offer, Balaam eventually delivers a message to Balak. This message includes an oracle that contains a prediction regarding the future of Yisrael. The prophecy states that a star would come forth from Jacob, and a scepter would rise from Yisrael. Many Christians claim this prophecy is found in Numbers 24:17 and is often interpreted as a foreshadowing of the coming of Jesus Christ, who is seen as the ultimate fulfillment of this prophecy.

Christians have been using אלהים's power and protection over the chosen people and HIS ability to turn their curses into blessings ends up highlighting the lie. Meaning, that Balaam was a prophet, who eventually delivered a message to Balak which אלהים told him not to. A message that includes an oracle that contains a prediction regarding the future of Yisrael. A false prophecy that states that a star would come forth from Jacob, and a scepter would rise from Israel.

What we know here is, that Balaam was a non-Yisraelite prophet and diviner. His reputation varied—sometimes seen as a righteous seer, other times as a flawed character. Balak, the king of Moab, sought Balaam's assistance to curse the Yisraelites who were encamped nearby. Balak feared their growing strength and wanted to weaken them. Balaam was enticed by the promise of rewards and prestige. He asked אלהים again, and this time, אלהים allowed him to go but with specific instructions (Numbers 22:20).

The Journey and the Talking Donkey:

As Balaam traveled to meet Balak, his donkey encountered a spirit of אלהים blocking the path. The donkey saw this spirit of אלהים, but Balaam did not. After several miraculous interactions, Balaam's eyes were opened, and he realized it was the Spirit of אלהים's presence.

The Oracles:

According to the biblical account in Numbers 24:1-14, when Balaam arrived in Moab, he initially tried to curse the Yisraelites as requested by Balak. However, each time Balaam looked out and saw the Yisraelites encamped, he was moved to bless them instead. One of these blessings contained the prophecy: “I see Him, but not now; I behold Him, but not near. A Star shall come out of Jacob; a Scepter shall rise out of Israel” (Numbers 24:17).

The Significance:

In this prophecy about the star and the scepter which explains in Numbers 24:17 was it speaking about a symbolic sign? You might not agree with me, that this Star does NOT refer to Jesus Christ at all. Many Christian believers believe the magi's star in Matthew's Gospel echo this prophecy to Jesus Christ, but I do not. Balaam's vision anticipates the emergence of a significant figure from the lineage of Jacob (Israel). The prophecy speaks of this Star and Scepter as future events, that this Star symbolizes an illustrious the future king or ruler who will come out from the Jacob's line. Who will hold like the Scepter which signifies as royal ruler, authority, and power.

The prophecy regarding the scepter in the book of Genesis plays a significant role in understanding. So, the question here is, who was the first ruler or king in the land of Yisrael? We would say “SAUL”, Saul was the first form of king of Yisrael. This Saul is from the tribe of Benjamin. Now, let us hold that name for a moment. There is one importation prophecy message we cannot ignore. According to Genesis 49:10, Jacob made a speech and blesses each of his sons with a prophesy about their future. There is one that concerning about Judah, he declares:

“The scepter will not depart from Judah, nor the ruler's staff from between his feet, until he to whom it belongs shall come, and the obedience of the nations shall be his”

This prophecy indicates that Judah's descendants would hold the scepter and rule over Yisrael. So, why not Saul who is not from Judah's line, who became Yisrael's first king instead someone from Judah's line? Despite Jacob's prophecy, Saul, a Benjamite, was chosen as Yisrael's first king (as recounted in 1st Samuel 8-10). Since שׁוֹפֵט is the sovereignty of everything and specific circumstances to those whom HE chooses. שׁוֹפֵט directed the prophet Samuel to anoint Saul as king (1st Samuel 9:15-17). Saul was chosen because of his unique qualities, not necessarily because of his tribe.

Even so, Benjamin is a smaller tribe, had its significance reason to be the first king. Saul's reign marked the beginning of Yisrael's monarchy, and $\Psi\Upsilon\Psi\Delta$ used him to fulfill HIS purposes. Until eventually, David, a descendant who is from Judah's line, became the king of Yisrael. David's dynasty continued through Solomon, Rehoboam, and others, fulfilling Jacob's prophecy. David's rise to power was remarkable. He initially ruled over Judah and later became king over all of Yisrael tribals' land. His lineage fulfilled the promise of this scepter symbolic which remains in the Judah's line.

So, the prophecy that Balaam spoke about the star and the scepter coming out of Jacob's line (Numbers 24:17) mostly emphasizes the future ruler of Yisrael was King David, the first from Judah's descendants' line.

Even so, Benjamin's son Saul is still from the Jacob's line which Balaam mention still share this same prophecy. But understand this, King David held the first scepter strong act like no one ever did. According to 1st Samuel 16:13, the prophet Samuel anointed David with oil among his brothers, signifying his selection as the future king of Yisrael. This act of anointing David symbolizes the transfer of authority and the beginning of his reign as a ruler, which includes wielding a scepter. This verse scepter, representing the kings' authority, passed down through the line of Judah. Starting with David, the kings of the Davidic dynasty continued through Solomon, Rehoboam, Abijah, and many others, all the way to Zedekiah, the last king of Judah.

This is why this star and the scepter that came out of Jacob's line pointing out to David not Jesus Christ at all. The Roman Catholic had altered this by added Jesus to this line of Judah figure to fool people with lies. To make him as SUPER STAR of all other former kings. Because of his fake marvel act like $\Psi\Upsilon\Psi\Delta$'s miracle work. This is how I see why the New Testament Matthew made indirect connections and interpretations that have been made over the centuries between certain passages about astrological concepts. And this is why I know $\Psi\Upsilon\Psi\Delta$ would not dare have the astrological business involvement in HIS teachings. These wise men aren't HIS fellowship people but a wicked who do these things as witchcraft work.
